研究大学における 学生の学習経験の変容

The Changing Student Learning Experience in Research-led Universities

クレイグ・マッキニス 氏

広島大学高等教育研究開発センター客員教授

講演要旨

Universities have been challenged to respond to constant and rapid changes in government policy, shifts in student profiles and expectations, and the tantalising possibilities of technologies for innovation in the design and delivery of learning experiences. This presentation will review current research and comment on the changing undergraduate student population in Australia. It will examine the ways in which research-led universities have responded to these changes, while also addressing pressures from government to provide for excellence in learning and teaching.
